CRIME PREVENTION TIPS

Now that the Christmas holiday season is over, some people will begin to receive the credit card bills for all of the holiday purchases that were made. With this in mind, it is a good time to review some basic precautions to help protect you from becoming a victim of credit card fraud and identity theft crimes.

Carefully check all credit card bills for any unusual or unauthorized charges. If you should find a charge that you did not make or any charge that you do not recognize, notify the credit card company immediately. If it is determined that the suspect charge was not made by you this will expedite the process of filing a fraud report so that you will not be financially liable for this charge.

At least once a year run a credit check on yourself to make sure that no unauthorized person has obtained your personal information and used it to obtain any unauthorized loans or open any unauthorized charge accounts in your name. If you should find any unauthorized credit activity on your credit report contact the company immediately and have the account frozen to keep any additional unauthorized transactions from being made and report this illegal activity to law enforcement.

NEVER give any personal, credit or banking information to any unknown person over the telephone or computer internet even if the caller claims to represent a company with which you have an account.
